

SPIRITED INVESTORS

April 15, 2009

The Water Heater Guys have hit upon the concept of converting business owners from renting to owning their water heater. This service can be provided to home owners, however the key focus is commercial. They provide the tank, come to the premises, remove the rental, and install a brand new unit that meets or exceeds the rental unit's specifications. They are licensed, bonded and insured installers and complete the work in one visit.

The Water Heater Guys specialize in natural gas, propane or electric water heaters and offer both tank and tankless systems.

The Water Heater Guys offer an alternative to Reliance Energy and Direct Energy who primarily rent water heaters and an alternative to Home Depot, Rona and other businesses who sell.

Spirited Investors is actively involved in both the sales and marketing functions as well as full back-office support.